AUTOMATIC CARTON LOADING

Packaging is a highly automated sector, with high-speed processes and solutions that constantly challenge the technological state-of-the-art.

However, for all the advances in automation, there are still a few operations, such as magazine loading, reel loading and quality inspection that are still undertaken manually, but present issues relating to ergonomics, safety and repeatability. One such operation that can prove challenging for operators is the replenishment of carton blank magazines on packaging machines.

Our new ACL - Automatic Carton Loading - solution automates this process and is the latest breakthrough that gives our technology a future-proof edge.

Comprising a collaborative robot, equipped with specialized gripping tools, smart cameras and advanced programming, the system automatically recognizes the pallet pattern, cartons stacks and interlayer sheets and can grip and load carton blanks onto a machine's magazine automatically.
